

Workout Creator & Editor

- As a user, I want to enter a search query into the exercise database search bar so that the system displays a list of exercises that match my query.
- As a user, I want to apply filter criteria like equipment or muscles trained so that the system updates the displayed list to show only matching items.
- As a user, I want to select an exercise from the database so that it is successfully added to my new workout draft or appended to my existing workout.
- As a user, I want to select the delete option for an exercise in my draft or saved workout so that it is successfully removed from the workout's sequence.
- As a user, I want to select a specific exercise within a workout to modify its parameters, such as sets, reps, or rest time, so that the new parameters are updated in the editor.
- As a user, I want to click the save button after finalising or editing my workout routine so that the system successfully stores the new workout or overwrites the old data in my profile.
- As a user, I want to choose the delete option for an entire saved workout so that it is permanently removed from my account.

Schedule Planner

- As a user, I want to select a date in the schedule to assign a workout so that it is successfully mapped to the selected block.
- As a user, I want to select an existing scheduled session to change the session's date so that I can keep to my routine.
- As a user, I want to select an existing scheduled session to swap its assigned workout so that the new workout replaces the old one in the schedule.
- As a user, I want to apply filter criteria by folder or muscles trained so that I can find a specific saved workout.
- As a user, I want to tap on a scheduled workout so that I can see its summary and exercise list.
- As a user, I want to select a scheduled workout and choose to unschedule it so that it is successfully cleared from the calendar planner.

Workout Overview & Active Session

- As a user, I want to navigate to a specific workout's overview page so that I can see its high-level details, estimated time, and exercise list.
- As a user, I want to click the "Start" button from the overview screen so that the system transitions into the active mode and begins tracking the session.
- As a user, I want to click the "Edit" button on the overview screen so that the system opens the chosen workout inside the editor.
- As a user, I want to select "Add" to perform an extra exercise during an active workout so that the new exercise is dynamically added to the current session.
- As a user, I want to select the remove option to skip an exercise so that it is dropped from the active session without affecting the saved template.
- As a user, I want to click on an exercise to see instructions, history, or a video demonstration so that the system displays the educational details.

- As a user, I want to input the completed reps and weight for a specific set and mark it as done so that the system records the data and highlights the set as completed.
- As a user, I want to press the button to finish my current active training session so that the system saves the completed data and displays a post-workout summary.

Custom Exercises

- As a user, I want to select a custom-made exercise from my personal library so that the system displays its details, notes, and tracking history.
- As a user, I want to choose to modify the name, instructions, or primary muscles of my custom exercise so that the updated parameters are successfully saved.
- As a user, I want to select a custom exercise to permanently remove from my library so that it is deleted and no longer appears in search results.

User Management & Profile

- As a user, I want to enter my credentials and hit submit so that the system authenticates me and grants access to my dashboard.
- As a user, I want to fill out the registration form so that the system creates my new user profile in the database and logs me in.
- As a user, I want to select the log-out option from the app menu so that the system securely ends my active session and returns me to the login screen.
- As a user, I want to request account deletion and confirm the action so that the system permanently wipes all my personal data and credentials from the database.
- As a user, I want to navigate to the profile section so that the system displays my personal details, stats, and settings.
- As a user, I want to modify my profile information and submit the details so that the system enables input fields and securely updates and stores my new data.
